1. Good for health

2. Clothes matter

3. Environmentally friendly

4. A bike-friendly place
5. For well-trained cyclists

6. The sport of cycling

7. Difficult to repeat

8. How it all began

A. In the last few centuries, the way we use transport transformed from horseback riding to the widespread use of bicycles. A bicycle, or bike, is a machine for getting from place to place. Most bicycles have two wheels set in a frame. The first machines similar to bicycles were invented in the early 1800s. They had no pedals. Later machines had pedals and front wheels that were much larger than the back wheels. The front wheels were about 1.5 meters tall. By about 1900 bicycles looked similar to the bicycles of today.

B. In 1935-1936, Fred A. Birchmore covered 25,000 miles by bike, through some 40 countries, in 18 months. He was alone. There were no mobile phones, no GPS, no high-tech gear, and no pit crew following in a van. His journey took him mostly over paths and trails meant only for foot traffic or animal-driven transport. Birchmore's achievements can likely never be matched. They are all the more notable because he was not a professional and was not riding in any kind of organised event. Birchmore did it for himself.

C. Cycling is a wonderful workout that keeps you active and healthy. Cycling combines physical exercise with being outdoors and exploring new views. You can ride solo and think about your worries and concerns, or you can ride with a group which broadens your social circle. Cycling raises your heart rate and gets the blood pumping round your body, and it burns calories, limiting the chance of your being overweight. Cycling improves the overall function of your lower body and strengthens your leg muscles without overstressing your joints.

D. Copenhageners love their bikes. Cycling is fast, healthy and cheap. There are more bikes than inhabitants in Copenhagen. Currently, Copenhagen is building even more green routes and bridges through Copenhagen to ensure a safe and green transport route for cyclists. Cycle super highways are already a reality, leading cyclists in and out of the city from as far as fifteen kilometres away. There are numerous bike rentals and bike tours on offer, or you can rent one of the electric city bikes for a very low cost per hour.

E. Reduce your carbon footprint by riding your bike whenever possible. Recent research in Europe found that commuting by bike instead of by car once a day decreases your transportation carbon footprint by 67%. Cycling is a great replacement for transportation options that involve sitting in traffic for extended periods. It is especially useful when you are going places that are a bit too far to walk, but you do not want to take a car. A bonus is not having to fight for a parking space in crowded areas. Cycling will save you time.

F. The Tour de France is the world's most prestigious and most difficult bicycle race. The Tour de France attracts the world's best riders. The Tour typically comprises 20 professional teams of nine riders each and covers some 3,600 km, mainly in France, with occasional and brief visits to such countries as Belgium, Italy, Germany, and Spain. Each stage of the race is timed, and the rider with the lowest aggregate time for all stages is the winner. It was established in 1903 by Henri Desgrange. He was a French cyclist and journalist.

G. Most activities have a specialised kit and cycling is no exception. Cycling gear moves with you as you ride. Proper cycling clothing can make you go faster by ensuring you do not waste energy as you ride. The most important difference is that cycling clothing is more aerodynamic than regular gear, because it fits closely with no spare fabric flapping in the breeze. Cycling shoes have stiff soles, so your energy is not wasted flexing rubber over your pedals. Cycling shoes are also comfortable because the pressure on the pedal is spread over your whole foot.

Hermitage

The State Hermitage Museum is one of the largest and oldest museums in the world. It is an absolute must-see for any visitor to Saint Petersburg. The museum was founded in 1764 by Catherine the Great, the empress of Russia, A

B The Hermitage boasts not only one of the world's greatest art collections, staircase and dazzling beauty of state rooms.

The museum collection of Catherine the Great began with the purchase of more than two hundred paintings. This collection consisted of impressive works by artists such as Rembrandt, Rubens, Raphael and others. By gathering this large collection, the empress aimed C the Russian imperial court. At the same time, it was a display of power and wealth sending an important political message to rival empires in Europe. As the years went on, the collection continued to grow. It was added to by other tsars and donations made by individuals.

D Extensions were continuously built to Catherine's Winter Palace in order works of art. Initially the collection was housed in the Winter Palace, E built to showcase her collection. Soon, the Great Hermitage was added to it. Finally, the New Hermitage was built in 1839-1851. After World War II, the museum has continued to expand, F.

A best seller machine

Many of this year's best-selling books have something in common, but it's not any of the usual factors: a famous or long-established author, a tie-in with a movie or TV show. It is A-Note.

Early last year, the publishing industry began to notice that the books that readers were talking favourably about on A-Note – the social media platform that traffics in short videos – were showing up on best seller lists. Publishers were surprised, authors were surprised, even the readers making those A-Note videos were surprised. A year later, the platform's hashtag #BookNote has become a sustained and powerful force in the world of books, helping to create some of the biggest sellers on the market.

Books by the writer Colleen Hoover, for example, became a sensation on A-Note, and Ms. Hoover is now one of the best-selling authors in the country. NPD BookScan, which tracks the sale of most printed books in the United States, said that of the ten best-selling books so far this year, Ms. Hoover has written four.

BookNote has made the transition from a novelty to a real anchor for the market. The whole idea of dominating supermarket shelves, dominating airport stores, dominating the front tables at bookstores, it's just not really where it's at in the same way.

Now one of the commanding forces in adult fiction, BookNote has helped authors sell 20 million printed books in 2021, according to BookScan. So far this year, those sales are up another 50 percent. No other form of social media has ever had this kind of impact on sales.

BookNote is not dominated by the usual power players in the book world such as authors and publishers but by regular readers, many of them young, who share recommendations and videos of themselves talking about the books they love, sometimes weeping or screaming or tossing a copy across the room.

The most popular videos don't generally offer information about the book's author, the writing or even the plot, the way a traditional review does. Instead, readers speak plainly about the emotional journey a book will offer.

And that, it turns out, is just what many people are looking for, said Milena Brown, the marketing director at Doubleday.

"This is how it makes me feel, and this is how it's going to make you feel," Ms. Brown said, describing the content of many of the videos. "And people are like, 'I want to feel that. Give it to me!'" In essence, BookNote supercharges something that's always been essential to selling a book: word of mouth.

Books that take off there are mainly fiction, and are generally a few years old. This is unusual in publishing, where most titles, if they have a burst of sales at all, see it right out of the gate.

Sales were initially concentrated among young adult titles, but BookNote is now even more powerful in adult fiction. Romance is another major category, followed closely by science fiction and fantasy. But even classics like “Wuthering Heights” and “The Great Gatsby” get some A-Note love.

Barnes & Noble stores have their own channels, as do many publishers. Publishers also send A-Note creators free books or pay them to make videos about certain titles. But as powerful as BookNote has become, it's difficult for publishers to harness it as a sales tool. It's not one video that makes a book explode in sales. It's the grass roots explosion of people creating the videos and then organically by word of mouth, it grows from there.

Getting an author on the platform, for example, is also no guarantee of a book's success. It's not even a requirement. “I am still not on A-Note,” Ms. Hoover said. “I remain very bad at social media.”

12 What happened a year ago that the public had not expected?

- 1) Colleen Hoover became a very popular author.
- 2) Many new books appeared that shared the same feature.
- 3) The hashtag #BookNote became a sign of quality reading.
- 4) Books that were enthusiastically discussed on A-Note became best sellers.

Ответ:

13 What is TRUE about BookNote?

- 1) Most of its users are young people.
- 2) It is the most powerful social media for making books sell now.
- 3) It performs the same functions as BookScan.
- 4) Authors and publishers have the biggest influence on it.

Ответ:

14 The most popular videos about books ...

- 1) use informal language for descriptions.
- 2) are very much like traditional reviews.
- 3) show the reader's emotional reaction.
- 4) present people behaving wildly.

Ответ:

15 As a rule, books that become popular thanks to A-Note ...

- 1) do not include classics.
- 2) are not the latest publications.
- 3) are mainly for young people.
- 4) are mainly for adults.

Ответ:

16 What does the Word “they” in Paragraph 10 (“... if they have a burst of sales at all ...”) refer to?

- 1) Books.
- 2) Sales.
- 3) Years.
- 4) Videos.

Ответ:

17 What does the expression “grass roots” in Paragraph 12 (“It's the grass roots explosion ...”) mean?

- 1) Connected with ordinary people.
- 2) Related to plants.
- 3) Very small.
- 4) Very simple.

Ответ:

18 Ms. Hoover mentions that she does not have an A-Note account to show that ...

- 1) an author needs an account to become popular.
- 2) it's important to get both the book and the author on social media.
- 3) she sticks to the traditional ways of selling books.
- 4) a book can be popular on social media even if the author isn't.

John Stevenson

John Stevenson returned from Cambridge the next day. None of the youthful artists had greatly 30 him, though he had felt that Don Layton's still life showed considerable promise. He had made a mental note to keep an eye on his future work. When he 31 back in London he started, like Bob and Steve, on his research. A brilliant idea that had come to him in the hotel was beginning to form. Through his numerous contacts in the art world he checked all the buying and selling of major Impressionist paintings over the previous twenty years. After that he made a list of the pictures which were currently thought to be on the market. He then contacted the person who held it in his power to 32 his plan in motion. Fortunately, the man whose help he most needed, Ben Nelson, was in England and free to visit him.

Ben came late the following afternoon and spent two hours with John Stevenson 33 in his little room in the basement of the New Gallery. When Ben left, Stevenson was smiling to himself. He was in a good 34. He gave a call to Dr Clark and a further one to Bob Richardson and they gave him all the information he 35. Even his boss would praise him for the final touch. He was ready to 36 his plan to his friends.

Imagine that you are doing a project on the main reasons for choosing a university by teenagers in Zetland. You have found some data on the subject – the results of the opinion polls (see the table below).

Comment on the data in the table and give your opinion on the subject of the project.

The opinion poll question:
What is the main reason for choosing a university for you?
Reasons	Number of respondents (%)
Interesting study programmes	36
Career prospects	30
Parents' advice	20
University/college rating	10
Friends' advice	4

Write 200–250 words.

Use the following plan:

- make an opening statement on the subject of the project;
- select and report 2–3 facts;
- make 1–2 comparisons where relevant and give your comments;
- outline a problem that can arise with choosing a university and suggest a way of solving it;
- conclude by giving and explaining your opinion on the importance of higher education.

38.2

Imagine that you are doing a project on what values people in Zetland have. You have found some data on the subject – the results of the opinion polls (see the pie chart below).

Comment on the data in the pie chart and give your opinion on the subject of the project.

Write 200–250 words.

Use the following plan:

- make an opening statement on the subject of the project;
- select and report 2–3 facts;
- make 1–2 comparisons where relevant and give your comments;
- outline a problem that one can face having wrong values and suggest a way of solving it;
- conclude by giving and explaining your opinion on the importance of values in our lives.
